Staying Educated and Knowledgeable

STAFFING WORLD®
ASA Convention & Expo
LEARNING INNOVATION LEADERSHIP
Oct. 15-17, 2019 ■ Las Vegas, Nevada

Staying educated and knowledgeable is one of our values at Hatch Staffing Services. Christopher Conklin and Kyle Lajewski had the opportunity to take advantage of this value when they attended American Staffing Association's Staffing World in Las Vegas. Having the opportunity to not just learn from experts, but also to network with other staffing professionals is exciting and provides unique experiences and insight for us as an organization.

Christopher commented, "The opportunity to come to the city of Las Vegas and learn from some of our industry leaders on how to become more innovative and better our business was incredible. I learned so much in my time here and am excited to start implementing all of my new found knowledge."

The nuggets of wisdom that come from attending a conference such as this are unique opportunities that can propel what we are doing as an organization. Networking with other industry professionals to learn what they are doing in their businesses can be a great asset to address and discuss issues that may be overlooked when attending a conference such as this. Being able to attend a conference that draws industry professionals from all over the world, brings unique insight that we can use in our local market and business.

Kyle commented, "I feel honored to have attended an event that offered so much knowledge and perspective on the industry. I'm excited to share new ideas and lessons learned with the rest of the team at Hatch!"

Have you heard of HatchFLEX?

The fight for top talent in the metro-Milwaukee market continues to be high. Back to our roots of where it all began with temporary staffing, HatchFLEX can offer freelance, full-time, short-term, or temp-to-hire work for individuals at any stage of their career. Our HatchFLEX team is here to help provide employment support for the projects that might be may necessity for your business. Or if you are seeking work, give us a call to help bridge the gap in your employment. If it's light industrial warehouse work or clerical data entry projects, we want to be your go-to in helping to provide you with work or employees. We look forward to having the opportunity to work with you!
